The Bosch GLI18V provides 10 hours of illumination with a 2.0 Ah Bosch SlimPack battery (not included), delivering 300 minutes of runtime for every battery amp hour (Ah). This flexible worklight illuminates up a large work area and it keeps the area well lit for hours. The six LED, 300-lumen light is bright and weighs less than .69 lbs. (tool only, not including battery).

The GLI18V-300 worklight features articulating action, which allows the user to angle the light at a variety of positions. In addition, it includes a hanger that allows the light to be mounted or positioned overhead. The compact light easily folds for carry-along convenience. The Bosch GLI18V-300 Worklight is compatible with all Bosch 18V Lithium-ion batteries.

The Bosch GLI12V-300 12V Max Worklight also offers compact size and light weight to go with great jobsite illumination. It offers six hours of runtime with a 2.0 Ah battery (not included) – 180 minutes of runtime for every amp hour (Ah) that the Bosch 12V Max battery provides. The bright 300 lumen light with six LEDs weighs only 0.36 Lbs. (tool only, not including battery). The GLI12V-300 is six sided for flexible positioning and provides a hook for easy hanging.

“Construction professionals demand tools that get the job done, but are also convenient to use,” said Charlie Chiappetta, product manager, power tools, BOSCH POWER TOOLS. “The Bosch GLI18V-300 and GLI12V-300 worklights provide bright light and feature a compact footprint that’s easy to take anywhere. There are dark corners on every jobsite that these lights can address.”
